ERNEST BARTOLUCCI, The will be no Second Prize.

WILLIAM SHEA Third Prize.

ABBIETTA HASLER,

Above are given the pictures of the prize winners in the recent Hibernian essay contest. They are all grateful to the Hibernians for opening such a competition in composition and through The Bulletin extend thanks for the prizes. The prizes came in each instance as a surprise, although some recognition of their efforts was naturally looked for. They, as well as the many other participants, put in much hard work and secured so much information that they found trouble in keeping within the 500-word limit in a number of cases. Two of the prize winners were prompted to enter the contest by reading the announcement in The Bulletin. Miss Gaucher Delighted, her success, Miss Gaucher says: I assure you, my winning the first prize was a complete and unexpected surprise both to myself and class-mates. Of course, it is only natural that one should expect some reward in any competition, but I did not dream or think of capturing the first prize. I must confess I would have been disappointed had I not received any reward at all after my hard work. Now, however, my delight is beyond description and the result beyond my expectation. Helped by The Bulletin. Ernest Bartolucci of No. 54 Cedar street, aged 14, of the eighth grade of the Broadway grammar school, and the second prize winner, is a native of position to the committee. Then I began to search for facts about the subject I was to write on. The account in The Bulletin of Miss Holloway's recent lecture in the T. A. B. hall gave me most of my information.

The hardest part of my work was to keep within the 500-word limit. When my essay was finished and I had done the best I could, I did not feel that I had said enough in it to win a prize. However, I sent it by mall to the committee.

However, I sent it by mail to the committee.

I certainly was surprised and delighted when one of my neighbors came over to my house early last Friday morning and showed me The Bulletin's article which said that I had been successful and that the judges had awarded me the second prize.

Learned Much of the Irish. Helped by The Bulletin.

Ernest Bartolucci of No. 54 Cedar street, aged 14, of the eighth grade of the Broadway grammar school, and the second prize winner, is a native of Norwich, He tells of his work as follows:

William Shea of No. 586 North Main street is 14 years old, and a member of grade nine of St. Mary's school. He has been interested in previous con-tests, as he writes that "Since these contests started three years ago I have made a study of the Irish in American history and by these contests I have acquired more knowledge of the Irish than I would probably ever have, so that I am grateful to the Hibernians of this city.

"Through the principal of my school and the teacher of my room I entered the essay centest with the hope of winning a prize and I believe much credit is due the Hibernians for the bringing out of the deeds of the Irish in American history."

Youngest Prize Winner.

Youngest Prize Winner.

Miss Abbietta Hasler of the Sacred Heart school at Taftville, the fourth prize winner, is the youngest of the quartette. She is eleven years old and a member of the seventh grade. Miss Hasler tenders sincere thanks to the Hibernians for the prize awarded. She writes that she was encouraged to enter the contest by seeing the announcement in the Norwich Bulletin, and by a letter from the A. O. H. committee to the school.

Assessors Win Case.

A decision upholding the action of the board of assessors has ben given by Judge William Case in the case of the appeal of Esra J. Hempstead of Waterford against the town of Water-ford. The case was tried before Judge Case at the last term of the superior court.

The board of assessors in 1909 taxed property at Browning beach owned by Mr. Hempstead. The plaintiff alleges that the property was unlawfully taxed and applied for relief to the board of relief of the town of Waterford, The board sustained the action of the assessors, from which decision Mr. Hempstead took an appeal to the superior court.
